Textile Fair: Crafting Fun

by Jane Bekelja

Crocheted stuffed animals, Norwegian Bunad (bû:nad), quilts, drawings, clothing, gnomes, flowers, and more could be found at this year's textile fair spearheaded by Jackie Bauder from the Glendo Events and Tourism Committee.

Pam Evert brought her traditional Norwegian Bunad to display at the event. She hand embroidered the Bunad that she was wearing. "Fifteen hundred hours to do the embroidery and 60 hours to sew it together. That is just the wool part, not the blouse, not the purse, and it's not the hat." Evert explained. "These are usually worn on Norway's Constitution Day, May 17."

Daniel and Debra Arnold enjoy participating in Glendo craft fairs. "We hit all of the little craft fairs in the fall. Glendo is our second-best one," Daniel said. Brianna MacGregor explained, "I enjoy doing craft fairs, I like the interactions with people. I'm a people person."

Mandy Bohrer likes crafting, "It's a good stress reliever." Connie Eller enjoys crocheting she says, "It gives my hands something to do while I'm watching TV." She crocheted stuffed animals, one for every letter of the alphabet.

Christy Carlson had a table full of flower arrangements. She has her own business Pebbles and Pinecones. The flowers she sells are shipped from South America. Instead of sitting in a hub, they are directly shipped to her. The flowers are fresher, "I like the grounding flowers give you. I could pet flowers all day long. It grounds your soul."

Enjoyment is the theme for the crafters and that enjoyment transfers over into the work they put on display.

Glendo School Four Day Schedule Bound?

by Jane Bekelja

On Monday, April 15 at the Platte County School District Board Meeting, the topic of Glendo Schools having a four-day schedule came up. After some discussion, the board passed the schedule unanimously. The Wyoming State Board of Education has to agree on the change. Glendo Schools held two required meetings to hear public comments about moving to a four-day schedule. Tom Waring, the new principal of Glendo Schools, led the meeting. "I was asked to look into this by some parents and teachers."

The State of Wyoming requires students in Kindergarten to Sixth grade to have 900 teacher contact hours. Middle school/Junior High the required teacher contact hours with students is 950. To make the schedule they go off the highest grade in the school and the hours the students need to meet. The current proposed schedule is being sent to the Wyoming State Board of Education and has students receiving 965.25 teacher contact hours.

During the public meetings, there were comments for and against the four-day schedule. From the parents who work on Fridays, they were unsure where their children would go. Glendo doesn't have a daycare in town or any enrichment programs for kids to participate in. Those for the four-day schedule thought it would be easier for them when they were gone due to other commitments.

The alternate schedule has to be reapplied for every year. If the four-day schedule doesn't work then Glendo Schools can change back to a five-day schedule. The Wyoming State Board of Education will make the final decision.

Glendo FFA Strong!

by Jane Bekelja

Glendo Middle School FFA is ending the year on a strong note. Carlee Hill won Champion in FAA Middle School Livestock Judging at Central Wyoming College. "I was very surprised! I didn't get much practice," Hill says. Then at State FFA, the Glendo Middle School took second place in livestock judging. Carlee Hill took

FFA advisor, Kevin Teton said, "They judged once in the fall at LCCC. But Riverton is where they first demonstrated their talents."

Each student found something challenging about livestock judging. Braidy Goode said, "It's hard when they all look the same and you really can't tell the difference." For Clay Daly it was, "My look compared to the judges. For the breeding part, I was looking for a different stance than what they were looking at. Not really a stance but a difference in one would be wider and they put it higher compared to the one that had bigger volume."

After the judging was over the students attended workshops. "There was a workshop we went to with one of the National Vice Presidents. She did one on failure and that one stuck out to me. It just kind of showed that it's okay to fail," Tra Bauder said. "Mr. Teton is the best Ag teacher. He taught us how to read the performance paper on the animal. He taught us to do our best. No matter if we end last he is proud of us anyway," Hill said.

Congratulations to Glendo Middle School FFA for all of their accomplishments!

Town Council Q & A by Jane Bekelja

Kelly Jones and Andrew Ebel attended the two town council candidates participating in a Q&A on Wednesday, April 24. Questions were asked by various town and surrounding area citizens. Here are some of the questions and answers from the Q&A.

Q: What do you propose to do to help heal the rifts in this town?

Kelly Jones: "I think making sure that we are building on the growth, building on the strength, shutting down any rumors, having an open and transparent government having an open and transparent forum, but also promoting respect in those forums is important. So I think that obviously, just making sure it starts from the top is probably what we need to be doing to start to slow the discourse."

Andrew Ebel: "I think the first part of that is that the governing body really needs to be open and honest, in everything. I think that is a good start. The other thing that I think is really important is that as far as the treatment from the governing body, everyone needs to be treated exactly the same. People need to know what's going on. People need to know the truth instead of hearsay, let's get the truth out. Let's let people talk. Let's get everybody to work together as much as possible."

Q: A concern about the lack of public comment was brought up.

Kelly Jones: "We are still having conversations on the current council about how we can reintroduce some type of public forum. But as always, I would just like to remind you that our doors are open. Or if you have our contact information to call and ask questions. We're not ever saying that you can't ever talk to us or you can't ever let your issues be known. We just ask it to be done in a more respectful and organized manner. Because this is a business meeting."

Andrew Ebel: "I think we should have public comments and the very minimum, people should be able to ask questions, especially when somebody talks about something that's going to be new, people are sitting there listening, and questions are gonna pop into their head, they can't be put on the agenda if they don't know what the information is going to be. So at the very least, I think we should have questions."

Q: The council can run community workshops to get the opinions of the community. Where do you stand on having workshops so we can get more community involvement and more communication out there?

Kelly Jones: "I think that anything that affects the entire town, we need to have feedback."

Andrew Ebel: "I think anything like that would be great. It would be great to have a workshop, anything like that, especially if it's more involved, where people would be able to have more interaction and get more information."

Q: What are your greatest strengths?

Kelly Jones: "I would say my work ethic. I am a self-described workaholic... I think that my ability to have discussions while keeping an open mind is a great strength... My background in journalism, I think will help because I'll be able to research grants and try to expand the communications, as we've talked about. But most of all, I just think that my greatest strength is the love I have for this town and for this community. I want to do everything in my power to see it succeed. And I'm hoping that when I'm sitting up there every month that I'm doing that right now. And as an elected person, I have more involvement with the daily operations."

Andrew Ebel: "I would like to say that work ethic and openness, and honestly, along with, I really like to understand how things work, and how they can improve. And follow the letter of the law and make sure that everyone's treated equal. I think that's where I come from for everything."

Both candidates expressed willingness to conduct research and to attend any training that is needed. They would like to see Glendo grow. Ebel would like to see more families. Jones would like to include more of the greater community. Both would like to know more about the fire department and are willing to attend their meetings. They would like to learn more about the dealings with the hotel. The night's session ended with a hypothetical question.

Q: If you were working on the budget for the town, and there was a need to make repairs to both the water and the sewer, which there is and there happens to be enough money to fix one or the other. Which one would you fix, water or sewer? Which one would you vote for?

Kelly Jones: "I would have to look at the data... Well, it's hard. I mean, you can't have a sewer without water. But our sewer system needs fix it our sewer system needs to be addressed very badly. I guess that's another weakness for me because I rely on facts and data more than I do on hypotheticals. I guess I would have to say right now I'd have to look at the more immediate need. And I think that our sewer system needs to be looked at most immediately. But again, I'd have to look at the data."

Andrew Ebel: "I would have to go with water first. We can't live without water."

Thank you to the candidates for participating in the Q&A session. Remember, voting is on May 7 at the town hall from 7AM-7PM

Marge Cares Fundraiser

by Jane Bekelja

Many attended the annual Marge Cares Fundraiser event on Saturday, April 27. Participants dressed in purple ate chili, played bingo, and bid on silent/live auction items. All proceeds from the fundraiser go to helping patients with their travel expenses. Last year, the Marge Cares Foundation gave away $43,000 and was able to help approximately 80 patients.

Marge Wilson, who passed away from breast cancer, wanted to create a fund to help others who had to travel for doctor's appointments. "She was my bicycle, buddy. We actually rode our bicycles the entire length of the Mickelson Trail," Candy Geringer said. Geringer has been on the board since the very beginning.

It takes a team effort to put on the fundraiser. "Community support is what makes this happen," Geringer explained. When asked what she liked best about Marge Cares, Genelle Petsch replied, "They help anyone in need. People all over Wyoming." Kathy Dam-row said that the reason Marge Cares is so big is, "because people care and they want to help."

Geringer is looking forward to next year. "Bill Foy is gonna donate a ginormous life-size structure!" Geringer says she will be posting pictures on Facebook as it is being made!

Glendo Post Writing Competition

This past month Glendo Schools was asked if they would participate in a writing competition for the Glendo Post. Here are the winners of that competition.

Kindergarten

Prompt: What would it look like if there were dinosaurs living with us? Write a story about what interactions we would have with dinosaurs if they were still here.

First Place: Dino Hotel by Braxzen C.

Welcome to DinoSleep. We will get you to your room. If you need anything, call the front desk. If you are wondering where the Dino Park is, it is down the hall. There is a petting zoo. There is a T-Rex, a pterodactyl, and a long neck dinosaur. There is also a swing and there is a dinosaur that swings you. There is a trampoline and there is a dino that jumps with you. They like to play with you.

1st and 2nd Grade

First Place: The United States Dinosaur Military by Monty D.

The United States Dinosaur Military is the best in the world. We have five different dino branches. The Brachiosaurus who helps the National Guard when it comes to the natural disasters. Here they come to the rescue! The Velociraptor is going to help the Army provide the ground forces. You don't want to be on the ground when the Velociraptor is around! The Mosasaurus is here to help the Navy handle operations on and under the sea. Do not jump in the water at battle! Our Air Force has the best help from the Pterodactyl. Their mission is to fly, fight and win. You don't want to be in the air when the Pterodactyl is there! When it comes to the first force on the ground the Marine Corp. is there. The Tyrannosaurus Rex will be the first on the front line. With the help from the tanks, the Triceratops will be busting through. Watch out front line the dinosaurs are rough and tough! Thank you to all the dino branches for helping protect The United States of America from all enemies and helping in the time of need. You all ROOOAAAARRRRR!!!!

Third through Fifth Grade

Prompt: Pretend that you have invented a time machine that will either take you into the future or to the past. You will be invisible to anyone you come into contact with during your visit. What time period or historical event would you like to travel in your time machine to see? What would you expect to witness when visiting this point in time or event?

First Place: My Time Travel Adventure by Riley B.

One time I got bored so I started screwing things together and I made an area that could probably fit an adult. I made it out of dad's leftover scraps from his projects. There were buttons, levers and so much electric stuff. Surprisingly, there was a lot of scrap metal. When I was finished I pulled a few levers, pushed the button and jumped inside the machine. I heard this voice that said, "My name is Spark and I can take you wherever you want and whenever you want. Just type in the year the place right here." Then a computer popped out of the wall and I typed in the year, the place and, poof! I appeared next to a woolly mammoth inside the machine.

I didn't think it would teleport since I just threw together random scraps. I started getting cold so I teleported back to my time and grabbed snow gear and medical gear. Then, I teleported back to the same place I teleported to the first time. When I got back I was able to pet the Woolly Mammoth and named it Fluffy because it was so fluffy and the fur was twenty inches long. Isn't that cool? Next. I rolled in the snow and ice. After maybe an hour, I started getting cold again and I thought I should go home. It was probably dinner time, so I petted the woolly Mammoth one last time then hopped into the time machine and went back home.

When I got home it was four-fifty. That was a second later than when I hopped into the time machine and took off. I was confused, but I just went with it. I thought I should tell someone, but then I thought that they would call the police and they will put the time machine into a lab to dissect it. So, I kept my mouth shut. Instead, I went to my room and wrote down ten more places that I want to go to and packed for my next adventure. If there is a next adventure. But first I want to go and see the woolly mammoth one more time and research it as much as I can so if a scientist messes up on any research on the bones I can correct them.

Sixth through Eighth Grade

Prompt: Write a short story from your animal's point of view.

First Place: What Are My Dog's Thoughts All Day? by Wade E.

So I woke up and I was on the floor! So I climbed into a bed with some dude and started to lick him till he woke up. When he finally woke up I ran to the door because boy oh boy did I have to pee. When I went outside I found my friend. His name is... well I don't know his name but we play a lot outside. Anyway, when I went back inside everyone was asleep, so I knew what I had to do.

After I woke everyone up I decided I should take a nap. When I woke up I smelled breakfast and boy oh boy did it smell amazing! So I went to the table and I barked until someone either told me to shut up or gave me some bacon.

After I had breakfast I had to use the bathroom again so I barked at the door until someone let me outside. I used the bathroom then I played with the other dog. We had so much fun, but then we both got really tired so we took a nap on the warm concrete. Then it got really hot so we woke up and I went back inside to take another nap.

When I woke up I realized that it was already supper time! Supper is always amazing, I get lots of food. After supper I go outside to watch the people do chores so I can play with my friend again when he is done eating.

After chores I go inside to take a nap. I always get woken up by those two-legged creatures though. They picked me up and carried me to their bed, but I just wanted to sleep on the couch. When I get back to their bed I could run away to the couch but I am too lazy to do that so I deal with it. Anyway, I can't wait to wake up tomorrow and do the same thing tomorrow. Goodnight.

Thank you to the judges and to Glendo Schools for participating.

1st Meeting For Steering Committee

by Jane Bekelja

The steering committee for Keep Glendo Great met for the first time on April 15 in the Town Hall. Greg Burke led the meeting and gave all in-attendance information about what is needed for a 501c.3. The group elected Greg Burke as Chairperson, Ashlie Gray as Secretary, and Larry Collins as Treasurer. The next meeting will be on Monday, May 20 at 7:00 in the Town Hall. Anyone who would like to participate is welcome to join. Below are the duties of the steering committee.

Duties of Steering Committee

by Greg Burke

1. Setup everything needed to become a 501c3 non-profit organization to assist in non-governmental fund raising for various committees as needed with donations and grants.
2. Represent the greater Glendo area in achieving master plan goals.
3. Determine a chairperson from the volunteers willing to serve and rotate duties as the group deems most beneficial to the entire committee.
4. Shepherd the ongoing activities of other committees formed to support the Town of Glendo Master Plan, in particular Tourism and Events, Communication, Support of Town Businesses, and Beautification. The Town of Glendo government is responsible for infrastructure needs (water, sewage, roads, and similar) as well as communication infrastructure involving internet and cell phone service. The town will also be involved in the Beautification committee as it applies to Town property and town ordinances.
5. Meet as a group on some regular basis (bi-monthly or quarterly) to assess ongoing progress towards meeting the town master plan goals.
6. Review the master plan goals annually and adjust as needed.
7. Bring in ex-officio members as needed for advice and consent on various projects (This could include the Town of Glendo, Platte County, State of WY, and Glendo State Park to name a few).

If you have any questions or would like to be on the committee please contact Greg Burke at 307-220-6494.

Thank You

To those who have helped with printing costs. It is much appreciated.

Sincerely,

Jane Bekelja

Town Council Brief

by Jane Bekelja

The town council held their monthly meeting on April 10, 2024.

Two ordinances were introduced. Ordinance 270 deals with the optional one percent sales tax. It passed on its first reading. The second ordinance 271 deals with cemetery fees. The changes are as follows: $300/Cremation burial during business hours, $600/Full Burial during business hours, $600/Cremation burial during non-business hours, and $800/Full Burial during non-business hours. This ordinance passed on the first reading with the note that it could change at further readings.

Lori Milnes from the Wyoming Child and Family Development Services came to talk to the council about services being provided for children in our town. The town council agreed to continue a $200 donation to help with services in and around Glendo.

Andrew Ebel Had some questions about the meeting minutes. In the Glendo Municipal Code it states the town of Glendo should have their meeting minutes posted 48 hours after the meeting. "According to the Wyoming Open Meeting Law, meeting minutes have to be published within 12 days." Mayor Juschka responded, "Right." Ebel continued, "Does that mean we publish them in 12 days? We do that?" The mayor replied, "Yeah. Not Always." There has been some confusion in the office, Tristany and Heather thought that the meeting minutes needed to be approved before being posted. Tristany will now get the meeting minutes posted within 48 hours per Glendo Code.

Fire Chief David Noyce asked the Town Council to let the fire department regain control over their account. Lawyer, Eric Jones said that he thought it was under the guidance of the audit that the town had control. Jones continues to say that he would look into it.

A Visionary representative came to continue the conversation about entering a franchise agreement with them. Visionary would like to put fiber-optic in and around Glendo. After some discussion, the council passed the first reading of Ordinance 272: Visionary Franchise Agreement.

The town council is working on a Water Protection Plan. The construction on Warren will be starting at the beginning of May. The town council is concerned about some vehicles on the street. Letters will go out in water bills to notify owners of the upcoming construction and the need to move vehicles. Kelly Jones would like to continue the discussion of updating employee manuals.

There was still no public comment option at the April town council meeting. If there are questions the deadline for getting on the May Agenda is Monday, May 6.

Glendo Guardian News

Glendo Volunteer Fire & Ambulance Service is committed to engaging our community, whether our station doors are open or not. Without the support of the community we serve, our mission would not be possible. That is why we are thrilled to be able to share information with you in this amazing local paper, providing a window into our activities. Tune in each month to stay updated on our endeavors!

Always remember, if you have an emergency or need assistance for whatever reason, to call 911, not personal cell phones so that all calls can be paged out and logged for State purposes. We depend on both Fire and EMS to help on all calls.

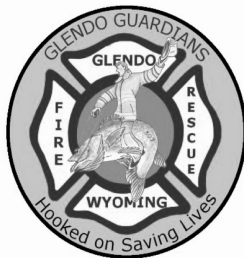

Call for Service: Fire & EMS work as a team; we usually respond to one another's calls. From March 15th to April 15th, 2024, we had nine calls for service. Six of those calls were medical in nature, two were grass fires, and 1 was a vehicle crash on the highway. Additionally, our firefighters remained on standby to assist with fire incidents across the county.

Training: Fire & EMS have different roles and responsibilities on calls, so we each usually have independent trainings to help with our development in our separate trades, and often come together to enhance teamwork. In April, our Fire & EMS teams as well as the EMR students engaged in collaborative training exercises. We focused on extrication techniques to safely rescue individuals trapped in vehicles, ensuring effective patient care throughout the entire process.

Donations: We are immensely grateful for the ongoing support of our community through generous donations. Each dollar continues to allow us to purchase things like supplies and equipment to be able to keep providing to our community. A special thanks to Anglers Bar for their contribution from a recent cribbage tournament.

Upcoming Community Events: Looking ahead, we're excited to participate in upcoming community events, such as Marge Cares on April 27th and Key Bar Ranch's 1st Annual Pasture Golf Tournament on June 22nd. Glendo Fire will be hosting an Initial Red Card Class starting on May 31st at 1pm thru June 2nd. Reach out to Chief Noyce for information. Stay tuned for more exciting events that are on the horizon including an open house to show off the new equipment and gear that was purchased thanks to your generous donations!

Thank you for your continued support that enables us to fulfill our mission of serving and safeguarding our community.

Words of Wisdom:

by Terry Henderson, O.C.D.S. Our Lady of Lourdes, Catholic Church

Is faith an ideology?

Philosophy is the keen search for truth. There is only one Truth, which is rooted in nature and grace. It is reality. Unfortunately, there are countless ideologies. In 1864, Karl Marx introduced the word "ideology" to mock his competition. Since then, his ideology has spread throughout the world in the 20th century. His ideology is the denial of reality.

St. Augustine taught that the only true progress is that of the soul as it grows in holiness to attain its heavenly home, during the trials of our earthly existence. Eternal salvation is the goal of every soul ever born until the last child is conceived before the end of the world. Karl Marx's system denies eternity and our spiritual destiny. His revolutionary goal was unlimited power. When he was asked about the afterlife, his response was, "A good socialist does not ask that question."

This banned question is the backbone of every ideology. Challenges to that question have caused the death of over a hundred million innocent people worldwide, ever since. These powerful forces that seek to overturn the Truth of Christ call the faithful 'rigid', 'impeding progress', or 'backward'. Traditional Christian faith has become an odious epithet in many places in our culture today.

Christ is "the Way, the Truth, and the Life." He doesn't change and neither should we. (Adapted from Population Research Institute Review)
